Description Provided:

London Drugs #22 is looking for a first year pharmacy student. We are a fast-paced, well-staffed pharmacy that offers a lot of support from coworkers. We encourage learning through experience and mentorship, so as your scope grows, you'll continue to grow on these skills such as counseling, documentation, extension, adaptations, initial prescribing, injections and care plans while being supported by an upper year student or pharmacist. We run a travel clinic every week and are looking to expand our clinical scope over the next year. We are open to giving more hours to students during the school year and over the summer as well. We do ask for an average of 12 hours a week so that we can properly support your growth here, but are adaptable to your schedule as well!
