Pharmacy At Your Door by CareRx is seeking to hire multiple pharmacy students as Pharmacy Health Bloggers to educate the public and engage with our digital users. This is a great opportunity for students to gain additional exposure in different areas of pharmacy, and fully utilizing their clinical knowledge and expertise to make a difference in the digital space.

As a blog writer, your responsibilities will include:

- Writing articles that relate to different clinical topics, such as smoking cessation, hypertension, sexual health, diabetes, and more
- Submitting your writing to our editing team for review
- Writing articles/stories ranging from 500 to 900 words

Qualifications

- Excellent grammar and writing style ability
- Currently enrolled in the pharmacy program. All years are welcomed.
- Previous writing and editorial experience preferred

Work location: Remote

Schedule: Flexible

Compensation: Competitive to freelance bloggers. Based on word count
